

IMITATION SHARKFIN

Suchi

Imitation shark fin is a sustainable substitute for shark fin as sharks reproduce at a slow rate and are threatened with extinction. Shark fin soup is a soup or stew and an Asian delicacy that is highly regarded since it was served to Chinese emperors back in the day. Since actual shark fin has become illegal to sell and serve in many countries or prices have skyrocketed, imitation shark fin is used instead. It is prevalent at hawkers in Hong Kong and Chinese restaurants.

Packing: 30x1 lb Retail bag, Wild
Sizes: retail 1# pack, Wild

Fishing Method: Processed

Shelf-life: 24 months from production date at frozen 0°F / -18°C or below

Flavor/Dietary information: chewy, gelatinous texture

Form: Wild, Product of Taiwan

Preparation: Soup

Species Name/ Source: --- / Taiwan

QUALITY | SUSTAINABILITY
RELIABILITY | INTEGRITY

Conservation status: environmentally sustainable